

Office of the Vice President for Research

Research Administration

The Office of the Vice President for Research (OVPR) is committed to assisting faculty at all UConn campuses in their pursuit of research excellence. The OVPR offers a broad range of varied services to support faculty in all aspects of their research and scholarship at the University of Connecticut. Led by Dr. Jeff Seemann, Vice President for Research, the OVPR is the main point of service for all research-related needs, including:

- Funding support and training programs
- Research core facilities
- Proposal preparation
- Award management
- Research compliance services
- Technology commercialization support
- Research IT services, and much more.

Faculty are encouraged to contact the OVPR for any and all research-related questions.

We are here to help!
